Guardianship Corruption: Modern Day Slavery

BY REV. ARTHUR HERRING III.

Most people are not aware that world wide there is a slave market that is legal and extremely profitable. It is called guardianship. In my article, I will give a very brief explanation of this nightmare that I have been in for 2.5 years. The victims and their loved ones will be almost powerless to escape. For much more information, visit www.protectmyparents.us

In this country, the laws pertaining to how guardianship is run are extremely vague. The powers, protection and abuse of them by guardians and the courts are almost unlimited. The corruption is only for money. In Pennsylvania, there are specific rules for guardians and how guardianship must be done. It is Title 20, Section 5521. The problem is those corrupt people pretend it doesn't exist. The lawyers for the victim's families are very incompetent when they are dealing with the "experts" of this scam.

The victims are usually elderly and have some problems with memory. Usually, a family member (brother, sister, wife, husband) will feel they are entitled to have a family member's money now instead of waiting for the person to die. They will file a petition with the Orphans Court. The corruption begins when a corrupt judge sees that this victim has a lot of money and a house. The judge will then assign a corrupt lawyer to be the victim's "free" lawyer, who is already in the Racket. A Racket is a group of people working together to commit a crime. Their act is called Racketeering and it is prosecuted by the government with RICO.

The judge will then pick a corrupt psychologist, also in the Racket, who will do a "evaluation" of the victim to determine incapacitation. In Pennsylvania and nationwide, there are NO standards or requirements as to what must be in a "evaluation", including how long it must be, what type of "tests" are in it, how many tests, their accuracy, if audio or videotaped, etc. If the psychologist has a doctorate and some experience with memory impaired, that is good enough to be the judge's "expert. The victim will always be found "incapacitated".

The judge will claim because the family does not get along, a "independent" guardian must be used. There are two types of guardians: person and estate. The guardian of person deals with the health and welfare of the victim.

The guardian of estate takes total control of the victim's assets. The usual rate for guardians is about $100 an hour or more for their "time". Nationwide, there are NO requirements for a person to be a "guardian" to take absolute control of a person's life and their assets. In Pennsylvania and nationwide, there are NO limits as to how many clients (victims) a guardian can have (own). It is not unusual for a guardian to have 10, 25, 50 or hundreds. Many times a guardian is both of person and estate. More clients, more money.

A movie was made several years ago for Netflix called "I Care A Lot". The movie shows what happens in most guardianships. There is basically NO protection for the victim as how they are taken care of (medically, personal care, contact with family, etc) and how their assets are abused (wasted) by the guardians of estate. The corrupt judge always gives the corrupt guardians a free pass because they are getting a part of that money. About 25 years ago, two judges in Pennsylvania were sending tens of thousands of children to a private prison for kickbacks from the owner of the prison. The case was called Kids for Cash. Another scam for money from victims.

After the guardians, their lawyers, psychologist, "care manager", lawyer of the victim, their friends, etc are hired, just like in the Mafia, they "kick back" some of the money they are paid, with their made up and never proven billing hours, to the other people in the Racket. All of those lawyers, billing the victim their rates, quickly drain the assets. The victim's house is sold to a friend of the Racket at a extremely low price. The house is sold again at the full market price. The profit is distributed to the Racket. The family never knows the house was resold, the Racket kept the profit and the heirs are denied the money.

There is so much more to this scam. This type of corruption is financial exploitation of the elderly. The very sad news is that the police, DA, attorney general and the FBI refuse to get involved. No reason given. How is this type of scam any different from any other type of scam?

I welcome readers and victim's families to contact me at tomlinher1925@tutanota.com. I have much information that can be of help that might also help their loved ones.
