

AGITATION

The mafia's main lie they used all of the time to deny and/or severely limit my visits with Mother was them claiming I "agitated" Mother during my few visits with her in the pig pen. Mother was kept in for the 3 years by the mafia or she was agitated after I left because of my visits. BS!

NONE of the mafia ever wanted her to be in court to give her side on anything, at any time. Especially in this matter of "agitation" because they knew my Mother and I were always extremely close and loving and she would be damn pissed that this mafia ever claimed I did upset her. The mafia knew how much money I had spent and the time I spent trying to protect her and get her back home from this guardian scam that was only to get Mother's vast assets.

Why did the mafia keep Mother in the pig pen, kept in solitary confinement, in a sensory deprived environment, with people with serious mental and behavior problems. There was NEVER any claim, by anyone, that Mother had mental or behavior problems. The mafia's own paid whore, the quack ledakis, said that she could stay in her home in his report and because of me living there for 2 years, everything was fine. So why did ledakis say in his report that Mother needed a guardian of person? Why did the mafia appoint also a guardian of estate when NO examples were cited that Mother had any financial problems???

Who would be "agitated" if they: could see their loved ones at any time, was living in her huge 3 bedroom, 3 bath house, in a private gated community for 22 years, with her much loved possessions of about 100 years, house paid off in full after it was built new, had vast financial assets, still driving her car, driving where she wanted and when she wanted, visited her friends, eating the best food she liked, going out to restaurants, talked on the phone, read her daily newspaper, watched her favorite movies on TV and was happy, healthy and enjoying every day pain free.

Compared to being denied visits of her son, finances being stolen by strangers for themselves, forced to live in a tiny, one room pig pen, no tv, no phone, urine stained sheets and towels, torn blankets, missing sheets at times, no table, no news paper, kept with people with mental and behavior problems, never allowed outside into society, no friends allowed to visit, dead rats under her bed, not allowed to see her doctors she liked, no place to go.

WHY would Mother be pleased, in any way, with this ownership by the guardian mafia?

WTF?

Identifying the symptoms of agitation in Alzheimer's dementia

Alzheimer's dementia and agitation in Alzheimer's dementia sound similar, but aren't the same. They're two related conditions that are diagnosed separately. This questionnaire can help your loved one's doctor better understand their symptoms, and determine the best next step.

Check off all the symptoms you've observed in your loved one. Download your responses and bring to your loved one's doctor.

Select all that apply.

Verbal Aggression

Has your loved one had uncharacteristic verbal outbursts?

- |                                                          |                                                                        |                                                                            |
|----------------------------------------------------------|------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| <input type="checkbox"/> Screaming                       | <input type="checkbox"/> Being negative                                | <input type="checkbox"/> Inappropriate language (cursing, sexual advances) |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Swearing                        | <input type="checkbox"/> Emotional outbursts                           | <input type="checkbox"/> Repetitive questions and sentences                |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Complaining                     | <input type="checkbox"/> Strange noises (unwarranted laughter, crying) | <input type="checkbox"/> None of the above                                 |
| <input type="checkbox"/> Constant requests for attention |                                                                        |                                                                            |