

MORE DENIALS OF PROBLEMS OF MOTHER BY LOGIE

In December 2021, I contacted the east Coventry police because of the problems Mother was having at her pig pen, mainly her swollen legs and other problems that logie was not correcting. The police responded and the nursing home director, cops and logie talked on the phone. I was not allowed to be in that conversation. As usual, logie made up many lies about me so his gross neglect of Mother would not be talked about. During the course of the fraud guardianship, I had to contact the police many times because of the gross neglect of Mother. Nothing was ever done to help Mother by the guardian mafia.

Dispatched to the listed location for the report of possible elder abuse. Upon arrival, contact was made with the complainant, Arthur Herring III. Herring advised that he does not believe his mother, Jane Herring, is being treated properly. Herring further advised that his mother's court appointed guardian, Dwayne Logie, does not properly take care of her. Herring also advised that about three weeks ago, he was visiting his mother and her legs were not circulating blood properly. Herring requested an ambulance to transport his mother for further evaluation. His request was denied by the assigned doctor. Herring also advised that he observed a deceased mouse under his mother's bed during his visit. Herring complained to the director of the nursing home, Joenel Torillo.

After speaking with Herring, Torillo requested to speak with me in private. I then followed Torillo to his office. Torillo then called Logie over the phone and requested his colleague, Tom O'Neil, also be present during the conversation. Logie advised that Arthur Herring has disagreed with how he is taking care of Jane Herring. Logie further advised that he is a court appointed guardian, and both parties have a court hearing scheduled for next week for Herring violating a court order. Logie also advised that Herring has called numerous ambulances for his mother to transport her, when he disagrees with the care she is receiving at the listed location. Torillo advised that all claims of neglect that Herring has expressed are investigated and have thus far been determined to be unfounded. Logie also advised that Herring has had recent police contact. Herring also threatens Logie when Herring disagrees with how Logie manages treatment of his mother, which is documented with his local department. Logie also advised that Herring also owns firearms and is concerned not only for his safety, but Torillo expressed the same concerns for Manatawny Manor employees and residents. Logie does not believe he will threaten or use the firearms in a malicious matter, but feels that he should advise police.

I advised all parties in Torillo's office that a report will be created documenting the incident. I also advised Torillo and Logie to call police if they believe they are in danger. I then spoke to Herring once more and advised him that a report will be created documenting the incident. Herring seemed upset at the lack of care for his mother, but understood and thanked police for speaking with him. Officer Nafziger and I stayed on location until Herring left the area.

Nothing further to report.

Department in reference to an issue he has with some of the content of this report. Herring stated that he came to our station to pick up a copy of the police report and when he read the narrative, he was upset that it contained information that he felt would be used against him to take away his visitation rights for his mother. Herring stated that the section of the report that mentions that he owns firearms was added to make it look like he is a danger to the Manor staff as well as to his mother. Herring advised, that while he does own firearms, he has never threatened any staff members or resorted to any kind of violence. Herring stated that he just wants to be able to visit his mother and make sure that her well-being is a top priority by the Manor. I advised Herring that I would add a supplemental report noting his concern. No further action taken.
